

Flowering Plants along Moscow Mountain Trails: Treasures in our Backyard

Lisa Morris

Lisa Morris is a self-taught plant enthusiast. Her endless curiosity and energy lead her to explore nearby trails almost every day, no matter the season. Using iNaturalist and her phone, she's identified about 400 and counting species on Moscow Mountain. She delights in the plants, fungi, mosses, convergent lady bugs, ice crystals, people, and all she finds along her way.

Presentation: Enjoy the multitude of native plants Lisa finds along the trails she hikes on Moscow Mountain. Lisa hopes her photos of both common and not-so-common native plants will inspire you to walk the trails as well and marvel at the biodiversity on Moscow Mountain. Learn about the trails, hear her stories, and delight in spring, summer, and fall native plants growing on Moscow Mountain.

7:00 pm PST, Wednesday January 15, 2025
Join us in the Lecompte Auditorium on the 2nd floor of the 1912 Center in Moscow, Idaho

Sponsored by the Idaho Native Plant Society White Pine Chapter